

Cost savings opportunity for conference calls

Conference call cost savings

Using the new IBC phone service, you can host meetings effortlessly from anywhere using your personal IBC conference line to dial participants into a conference call. This service is included in the base price of your phone service and offers the opportunity for cost savings to government over using the SaskTel On Demand conference service.

IBC conference lines can be used by any type of phone and number. Every IBC user can set up their own conference line by logging into the User Portal with their IBC username (i.e. 3065551234@ibc.sasktel.com) and password. Participants can set up multiple conference lines and configurations to meet their needs.

Recommend actions

- Encourage employees to create an IBC conference line for their conference calling needs
- Consider having admin resources use their IBC accounts to create multiple IBC conference lines for use in their branches
- Invite the IBC project team to speak at an internal ministry executive or administrative resources meetings to share information about the IBC service
- Consider canceling current ministry subscriptions to SaskTel On Demand conference services
- If you choose to continue to use the SaskTel On Demand service, ensure it is for a thoughtful business reason

IBC conference line vs SaskTel on Demand Conference line

IBC Conference Lines	SaskTel On Demand
306-787-3999 Uses conference ID, has the option for a moderator code and security PIN	1-866-296-5646 Uses participant code and moderator code
Free – included with the IBC package	Cost 10 cents per minute per user
Long distance charges may apply for callers; the Call Me Now conference link can be used to mitigate long distance for callers; all IBC users have unlimited Canada and US long distance calling	Toll free for callers; host is billed for all callers
Users can set up their own conference line from the IBC User Portal	Set up requires a request to SaskTel

Host meetings from anywhere with anyone using your personal IBC conference line.

Your personal IBC conference line is here

You can host meetings effortlessly from anywhere using your personal IBC conference line to dial participants into a conference call. It's free so you can save big on your phone bill and never battle your colleagues for the branch conference line again! IBC conference lines can be used by any type of phone and number. Every IBC user can set up their own conference line by logging into the User Portal with their IBC username (i.e. 3065551234@ibc.sasktel.com) and password:

IBCPortal.SaskTel.com/Login > Audio Conferencing > Conferences

Click "Add," give your conference line a Title, and use the Checkboxes to apply the settings you want for your conference line. Then click "Okay." Your conference line will now appear in your list of conferences. Click on the title of the conference line you created to pull up the access information including the conference phone number and conference ID (sample pictured >).

Conference Access
Phone Number:	306-787-3999
Conference ID:	123456
Call Me Now Link:	https://ibcportal.sas

Use the IBC Audio Conferencing Guide on Taskroom to help navigate the conference features and setup. Contact your ministry Telephone Coordinator if you are having issues logging into the IBC.