

New telephone system coming to Government

There are a number of benefits you can look forward to with the new telephone system coming to Government, including:

Unlimited local and long distance calling to Canada and U.S.

A personalized conference number that can hold dozens of participants.

A customizable desk phone, with a feature that has lights to indicate the availability status of your key contacts.

A computer application that connects you to your landline telephone number and contacts.

A click-to-dial feature that dials a number from the computer to a landline telephone.

Self-serve capabilities to manage personal telephone setting from the user portal.